Ma: Kids! Come on down to breakfast. Remember, first come is first served.

Pa: But Ma, I've been a settin' here for an hour and there ain't no food on my plate yet.

Ma: Who's that settin' next to ya?

Salesman: Name's Billy Buyit, travelin' salesperson. Saw yer house and I just knew it had my name written all over it.

Pa: That true, kids?

Twins: Yessir!

Pa: Well, you'd better wipe them letters off afore Ma see's 'em.

SFX: door slams, footsteps running away

Granpa: Never could stand them sales people.

Ma: Oh, don't get your nose out of joint, Granpa.

Granpa: I'm sorry. I tried to fix it afore settin' down here. How's it look now?

Granma: Don't worry, ya old coot. What will be, will be.

Granpa: Apparently so, since you're still here like a knife in my side.

Granma: I was wonderin' where that blade went. Last time I saw it I was peelin' potatoes.

Twins: Hi, Ma. Hi, Pa. What's fer breakfast?

Gerund: Look, Sissy! It's raining cats and dogs!

Sissy: Goodness gracious, will you look at all them fight as they hit the ground.

Ma: Stop staring out the window and go get some fruit from the barrel.

Cuzin Sue: What's the point, Auntie April? You know one rotten apple spoils the whole barrel.

Sissy: Yeah, and the one we pulled out yesterday was a doozy!

Ma: Yes, well, our fruit situation has been touch and go.

Twin 1: You touched it! So it's your turn to go!

Twin 2: Okay.

SFX: door slams

Gerund: Pa, it's time we turned over a new leaf.

Pa: You're right, Gerund. Go out and see to the bush in the backyard.

Ma: Now, that is the last straw.

Gerund: What? You know I need one to drink my soda.

Ma: Not to worry. We should count our blessings.

Everyone: One, Two, Three, Four . . .

SFX: knocking

Ma: Who's at the door?

Ray: Name's Ray, mam.

Pa: And who're you?

Gerund: And why are you all dressed in yellow?

Ray: I'm a drop of golden sun.

SFX: door slams

Granpa: Some people just shouldn't be allowed to watch movies.

SFX: knocking

Fool: Howdy.

Sissy: Hey, everyone! Look at what I got!

Gerund: Where'd you get all that money?

Sissy: From a fool.

Fool: Howdy.

Gerund: Did it take long?

Sissy: Naw, a fool and his money are soon parted.

Cuzin Sue: Hey! I heard every cloud has a silver lining.

Pa: Well, I guess we should all go out and look for it, now shouldn't we.

Granma: That cloud doesn't look lined!

Granpa: Nothin' looks lined to you, woman. You're blind!

Gerund: Hey! Ow! Ma!

Ma: Now what?

Gerund: Sissy's bending my ear!

Ma: Sissy, you're gettin' yourself into a lot of hot water.

Sissy: Well, I am tryin' to take a bath, Ma. What'd you expect?

Ma: Oh, never mind.

SFX: theme closing

Granma: Oh, Granpa, they're good children, just keep all your fingers crossed.

Granpa: I will, Granma. But for how long should I do it? It makes it a might difficult to tie my shoes and pull up my socks in the mornin'.
